I Still Dream About You
Fannie Flagg
Random House, $32.95

JUST as she did with Fried Green Tomatoes at the Whistle Stop Cafe, Fannie Flagg has set her new novel in America's south and centred it on an everyday woman living an ordinary kind of life. When Maggie - a former Miss Alabama who is now working as a real estate agent - despairs about the direction her life is taking, she ends up discovering a new world of opportunities and dreams.

Marley and the Kittens
John Grogan
HarperCollins, $14.99

MARLEY is arguably the 21st century's most famous canine celebrity. The galumphing golden retriever starred in the tear-jerker film Marley and Me, which was based on author John Grogan's book, Marley and Me: Life and Love with the World's Worst Dog. Since then, Grogan has written five picture books about Marley and his latest is Marley and the Kittens. Illustrated by Richard Cowdrey, it is a story about a pair of kittens who threaten to overthrow Marley's status in the house.

Dog Logic
Robyn Osborne
Big Sky Publishing, $19.99

HAVE you ever wondered just what goes on in your dog's head? In Dog Logic, canine consultant Sox - an Aussie cattle dog who overcame a troubled start to life - shares insights into life as a dog. The four-legged philosopher provides humorous advice to help owners resolve doggy dilemmas, including everything from barking, bed and biting issues, to worrisome walks. Each chapter provides both canine and two-legged advice, supported with tips from Bark Busters.

The Night Bookmobile
Audrey Niffenegger
Random House, $39.95

BEST known for the book The Time Traveller's Wife, American author Audrey Niffenegger has more recently turned her hand to writing a graphic novel. Titled The Night Bookmobile, the artistic hardback tells the story of a young woman who discovers a mobile library which stocks every book she has ever read. Her journey becomes one of longing to be reunited with her memories. Niffenegger is also a visual artist and has written a novel-in-pictures, The Three Incestuous Sisters.
